Symbol of strength, sturdiness, and long life, this beautiful oak stands in the center of the campus. Thousands of East High students have stood under its massive limbs and imbibed that never-say-die spirit traditional of the Scarlet and Black.

Mr. D. Q. Williams
Vice-Principal

Mr. O. G. Prichard
Principal

Miss Agnes Helmreich
Girls' Advisor

Faculty

East High students can point with pride to their principal, vice-principal, girls' advisor, and faculty members. In training, scholarship, personality, and leadership, these persons are among the finest.

Mr. O. G. Prichard, principal, organizes the schedule, works with teachers and students in planning the affairs of the school, and does a splendid job of directing the many-sided activities of a school the size of East High.

Mr. D. Q. Williams, vice-principal, manages the school's athletic program, directs the night school, and helps solve many problems of the boys connected with school, work, and home life. He is also a member of a draft board in Des Moines.

Miss Agnes Helmreich, girls' advisor, studies the girls' problems and helps them to adjust themselves to all types of situations. In addition, she works with the ladies of the P.T.A. as well as with many parents individually. She directs the school social program, advises the seniors and student council, and in general has a position that requires a vast amount of tact, perseverance, and skill.

The teachers' interests and activities range widely. Through the faculty the students get their daily lessons in the various subjects. At the same time the young people are having the advantage of contact with adults of wide experience, thorough training, great skill, and fine personality.

Many members of the faculty also take responsibility for community activities, such as church, war program, civic development, lodges, and the like.

All in all, school is a grand place to be, and its success is due, in large measure, to the untiring efforts of the teachers and administrators.

Dogcatcher Jones Tours the World

Boring Reporter Daily Newscast

This evening, friends, your roving reporter will cover the opening of that swanky new cafe Casa El Mira under the operation of that genial host Darrel Beede. The Crowd is beginning to come in. I'll try to get over to the door to describe some of them to you. I see that famous actress Alene Schuling beau'd by the matinee idol of the day, Adrian Martin.

Here comes another star, folks. She seldom goes out, and believe me, it's a big surprise to see Miss Arlene Buckingham.

Suddenly the music stops! Am I mistaken? No, it's really President John H. Dawson. Right behind him is the whole cabinet (kitchen).

The cafe has many of its employees from the old place. There's Allan Holtman, the headwaiter. That cute waitress everybody is whistling at is Gretchen Swanson. Yes, folks, they are coming from near and far.

This now ends the roving reporter's newscast for today. We'll be seeing you.

Cutie Coquette Storms New York

The New York literary world is in a turmoil as the result of Novelist Sylvia Storm's new book, "All is Everything." It is a fast and gay story about a cute coquette from the sticks, and her experiences in the big city.

Joan Anderson, literary critic of the Times, mildly praised the work, but added, in her usual acid tone, "It is advised that a box of kleenex be placed adjacent to the Fanny Farmers so as to save the book for the next eager reader."

Exclusive!

Open house was held at the new unique home of Mr. and Mrs. Alan Sampson. The home is on Swank Avenue in the town of Groggyville. The house was designed by the well-known architect, Mr. Allen C. Holtman. The house is white with red circular shutters. The yard is large and rolling. The interior decorating was done very uniquely by the John W. Plummer Interior Decorating Co. The house may some day roll right out into Swank Avenue.

'Owly' Anderson Chases Butterflies

After twenty years of butterfly-chasing, Professor Wilbur Anderson, brilliant taxidermist and owl-stuffer of Yarvard College, has discovered a new species of the Zinoba family during an expedition in the jungles outside of Timbuktu. Cried the professor when he made the discovery: "Eureka! I have reached the zenith of my career."

Arriving in Manhattan last month, Professor Anderson was awarded the Henry Trumbull Percival Award for the greatest achievement of the year in butterfly-chasing by the New York Butterfly Chasers' Club.

Professor Anderson had to be helped to the platform to receive the Award. Anderson explained; "This is the price a butterfly-chaser must pay for the joy of butterfly-chasing."

Escape? . . .

Allan Holtman was last thought to be on an island between Australia and New Zealand. During their honeymoon in New Zealand, Arlene Buckingham, his wife, became very ferocious at him for leaving all his money on the boat. Forced to leave, he was now swimming for India.

Slips Over On Banana Freighter

Stanley Jones, president of the Dogcatchers' Union, met many of his high-school classmates on a recent tour of the world.

Taking the midnight plane to New York (piloted by Tony Berardi) he was served breakfast before landing by Stewardness Naida Cunningham. He paid his nickel to Ticket-taker Dick Randles when he went by the Bronx Express to the boat pier (Jones went by banana freighter).

Going over, he sat next to Socialite Mary Jane Shaw at dinner. He picked up some reading material in Sara Kountz' little bookshop along the Seine in Paris. He boarded the Orient Express for Istanbul, was shocked to see Authoress Dorothy Parker hawking her books in Vienna Station.

Sailing across the Mediterranean on Bob Sargent's yacht, he landed at Bombay and bought a hat at Bob Townsend's haberdashery. Returning to the U. S. by clipper, Jones heard June Wester in a revival of "Pistol Packin' Mama" along San Francisco's Barbary Coast.

Smart Seals Show Stuff In Op'ry

Hurry, hurry, hurry: News has been received that the East High op'ry house will be honored soon by the return of our own Darrell Beede with his trained psychic seals. The show features the sparkling juggling of Slip Slippo, the Zoot Seal, ably supported by his valet, Harold Gross, and Pedro, the Performing Penguin, who does an adagio act with his teacher, Grant Thomas. Also in the act are Dale Galusha, emergency water boy, and Bob McFarling, who is on hand to care for swooning females.

Gadding About in 1954

Bob Townsend thought he had finally found his ideal mate. After seven successful marriages, he met Bette Mote. They had not seen each other since those never-to-be forgotten high school days. As soon as she obtained her divorce papers and alimony settled with her fourth husband, she made a trip to the altar with Bob. The wedding took place at the great Rheims Cathedral in France. The arrangements for chartering "The Normandy," whose captain was Dick Randles, to transport the couple and their attendants across the briny deep was taken care of by James Terrell, who well knew his job, having been the best man at the former seven weddings.

The ushers at this great fete were Bob Sargent, Wilbur Anderson, Derrold Anderson, and Darrel Beede. A solo, "A Man Was The Cause Of It All," was rendered by Doris Bach. The maid of honor was Gretchen Swanson with Ellen Augustine, Mary Jane Shaw, Alice Knudsen and June Wester, as bridesmaids.

For entertainment Irene Davidson came floating down the aisle and proceeded to dance the "Carrioca". As she fluttered out the side entrance, Sara Kountz struck up the chords of the wedding march as the bride and her father hopped, skipped, and jumped over the protruding feet of the spectators. The next "fox pass" in the ceremony was when it came time for the best man to present the ring. Jim always was a butterfinger and when he finally found the ring, it went rolling down the aisle only to be recovered by the daring Derrold Anderson who made a successful flying tackle.

Among those from whom they received congratulations at the door were Mr. and Mrs. Tony Berardi, Mr. Brady, and his wife, the former Barbara Johnson, Mr. Walter Brainerd and his wife, the former Ardith Pearson, and Coach Grant Thomas escorting his beautiful wife, Betty Jean MacDonald. Still classed as bachelors were Neil Smith and Stanley Jones. Bringing up the rear were the Misses Patricia Quinn, Elaine Johnson, Arlene Buckingham, and Naida Cunningham.

The bride wore a red and white striped short ensemble with a white angora sweater. The maid of honor wore a black satin gown. She was adorned with beautiful jewels from all over the world. The four brides-maids wore the new resort costumes by Adrian (Martin). The bridegroom wore the new style white peg-top trousers with a red and white checked sport coat and a matching red bow tie. The best man wore his totally-abused wedding suit of snappy white knickers with a black and white vest.

Their chauffeur, John Franklin, met the couple at the church with their autogyro and whisked them into the sky to take them to the home of relatives where the reception was held. Things couldn't go off as planned. The bride's veil was caught in Archie "Tanglefoot" Hindal's feet, and he too was whisked into the air. She could hardly compose herself but decided to unfasten her veil and suffer the consequences. She timidly peered over the edge and saw Archie gracefully floating to the ground in a parachute.

The hostesses at the reception were Lucille Farris, Dorine Ferguson, Gloria Graham, and Jean Garrington.

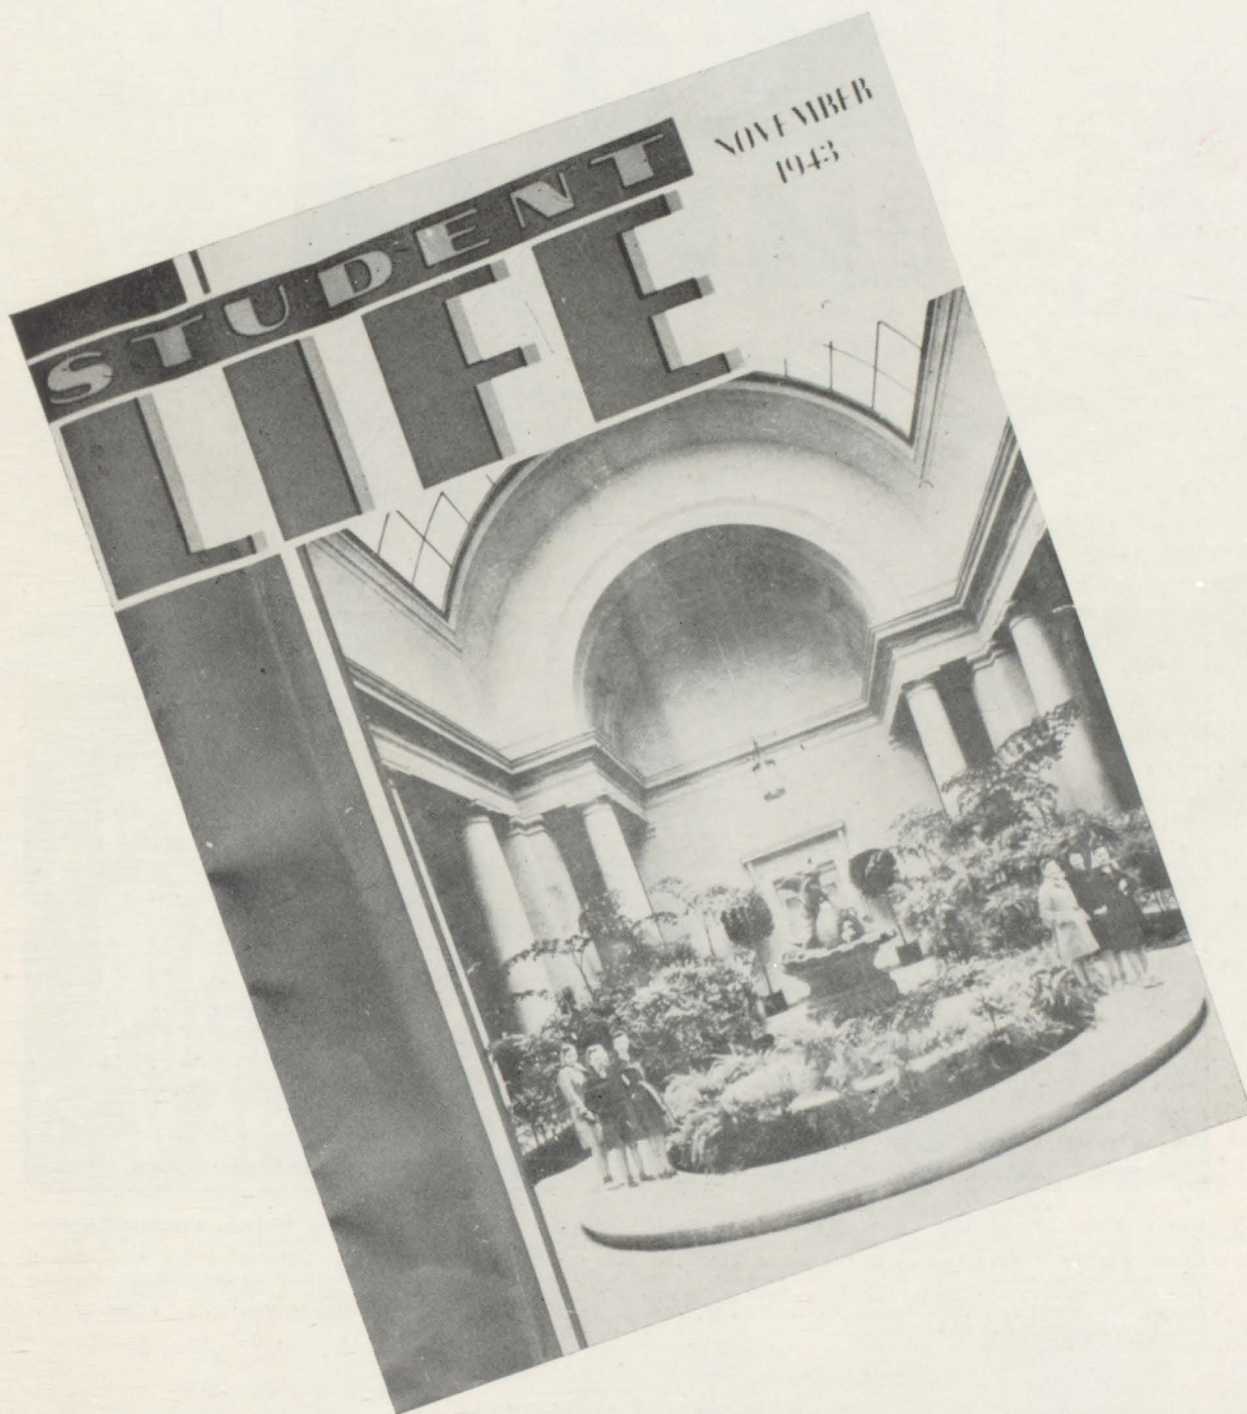

Wesley (Clumsy) Redhead dropped his piece of cake. Gloria Graham, making her way to the kitchen with plates, stacked two feet high, slipped and caused a great commotion.

As Bette (now Townsend) ascended the winding staircase, she almost fell over the banister as she heaved her bouquet to the clamoring girls. Sylvia Storm leaped into the air as she caught the bouquet of tumble weeds bouncing from the head of Howard Neese. The tumble weeds were personally escorted by Robert McFarling to the New York harbor where he deposited them safely on the boat.

The six-foot wedding cake made by that master cook, Paul Wildrick, who stood on a ladder to frost it, was set in the middle of the floor. After the couple had cut themselves a piece of cake, there was barely enough left to go around to the few guests at the reception.

Reverend John Dawson, who officiated at the wedding, saw them off on their trip back home on the "Normandie". In contrast to their gala going-away festival was the return home. As they came down the gang-plank, it is rumored that Bob spied his third wife, Gloria Lawler, who was at the port to meet James Terrell. Something seemed to click in Bob's mind. The memories of the good old days with Gloria roused him. He forgot everything, and jealousy moved him forward through the crowding spectators and reporters. He soon reached her and took her in his arms. Bette joined his former wives in Reno.

As Bob is quite the man about town, we would like to congratulate him on his happy marriage. We regret to say that he was a little too fast for us this time, though. We will stay on deck so we can catch him next time.

What goes on behind the doors of East High? Clubs, classes, parties, and classroom activities. Why don't we turn this page and scan through the life of our dear old East High?

CONGRESSIONAL RECORD

Vance Walters

Art Sorenson
President

Gretchen Swanson
Secretary

Selected to lead our school this semester as president of the Student Council is Arthur Sorenson. When he is unable to attend, Vance Walters takes over for him as vice president. At the roll-calling post, we find Gretchen Swanson. These persons were chosen by our Student Council, and they are doing a grand job in leading our school activities.

Student Council

The Student Council is fundamentally the backbone of East High. Through this organization the student body is given a voice in the managing of school activities. The representative to the council from each home room is chosen by his classmates. The council itself is divided into committees composed of a chairman and usually three or four other members. These committees each cover a different phase of our school life. The many drives conducted throughout a semester are usually sponsored by one or more of the council committees. Thus we see how the student body of East High is given a chance to plan the activities of the school as they wish through the student council, assisted by the able guidance of Miss Agnes Helmreich.

Saturday Review of Literature

Twice a year at the end of each semester, a strange phenomenon occurs in the halls of East High. For fifteen minutes before the end of fifth period students rack their brains (?) and come out with the most incoherent excuses of the year for getting out of class early. Suddenly the bell rings and there is a mad stampede as students with wild looks on their faces rush to the front hall. The Quill is out!

Although the staff this year is one of the smallest in history, they have managed to come through with the same snappy result. James Terrell is the editor-in-chief, LaVerne Stewart is associate editor, and Gloria Romans is editor of organizations. Marjorie Rowat has charge of the jokes and calendar, and the staff writers are Glenna Groseclose and Gene Ellis. Dick Ingalls is sports editor.

Advisors

Guiding lights in the midst of our literary maze; also masters in the fine art of patience and control of the temper; here have you our most worthy quartet of Quill advisors.

The sparkling specimens of art usually gracing the many pages are by courtesy of Miss Harriet Macy, while Mr. Leslie Olsen conducts the weighty affairs of business. Mr. Charles Springate makes sure that our brainchild carries enough advertising and the trusting little hands of the editorial staff are guided by Mr. Kenneth Stratton.

Leslie Olsen, Charles Springate, Kenneth Stratton, Harriet Macy.

Top to bottom: Ellis Monk, Captain Bob Townsend, James Shepard and Bud Simms.

Iron Age

The boys who deserve a lot of credit for leading the cheering section that Lee township was famous for this fall are Bob Townsend, captain, Ellis Monk, Jim Shepard, and Bud Sims. The whole school looks forward to the pep assemblies, where East High's lusty town criers make the rafters ring and the ceiling rise. Full of the good old East High get-up-and-go spirit, you see them anywhere and everywhere.

A lot of our victories have come through the pep that these boys have generated. The boys have worked very hard this year on new yells and tricks to make us more enthusiastic at the games. With their snappy uniforms and their leather lungs, they have kept us from tasting the dregs of defeat. They are a reflection of our school and a good one.

Stepping High

As the band comes marching across the field, the high-stepping, colorful, snappy drum majors are in the lead. What a picture they make as they skillfully toss their shining batons into the air, catching them again while never missing a step! Watch them as they come down the way at football games. To see them strut causes many a heart to flutter.

What a grand air they add to the band, with their bright red and black uniforms and their plumed hats swaying in the breeze! The boys who attended the football games of the '43 season are Russell Noland, the leader, and Charles and Harold (You guessed it) those Taylor twins, a fact that adds more to our band. Our admiration of these three twirlers knows no bounds and East High is proud of them.

-- Listen --

When we sit back and prepare to enjoy their music at assemblies, or when we cheer them as they march across the field in perfect Scarlet and Black formation, little do we think how much "toil and trouble" goes into the final perfect result.

This year, under the direction of Mr. Eugene Braught, they have marched at the football games, played for all of the pep assemblies, and also presented in November a concert at the Shrine Auditorium for the State Teachers' convention.

Row 1: Speck, Reed, Priebe, M. -- Etude --

For those of us who like to relax from jive once in a while, and for whom Bach is someone other than just "some composer with the same name as Doris," there is the concert orchestra. Directed by Mr. Braught, the orchestra played this year for the school play in November, and for commencement.

Also featured with the orchestra this semester is a new string quartet, composed of Lloyd Speck, first violin; Kenneth Ried, second violin; Helen Furboy, viola; and Marilyn Ritchison, cello.

Keynote

A flowing chord, a gay time, sixty voices blended as one into perfect harmony. Yes, it's the A Cappella Choir, under the direction of Miss Sigrid Greenhill. The choir is composed of the more advanced music students of the school, many of whom are selected from Chorus One, Chorus Two, and the Boys' and Girls' Glee Clubs.

Since it is the advanced vocal music organization, the choir is in much demand for assemblies and outside programs. On November fifth they sang in collaboration with the North High choir at the State Teachers' Convention. Also at Christmas time, they presented a collection of many beautiful Christmas songs and the music for the Nativity.

From the choir small groups are selected, too. For an earful and an eyeful of really smooth harmony, there is the Girls' trio, featuring Doris Bach, Marilyn McGlothlen and Betty Fort. Their voices have decorated many pep assemblies and programs this semester, and they are called on many times to give performances outside the school.

A solid four are Harlan Benshoof, Lloyd Speck, Art Sorenson and Max Lingle, the members of the Boys' quartet. A versatile group, they swing from a spiritual to a sea chanty with the greatest of ease.

While most of their singing has been done outside of school, they also appear on programs and assemblies.

Downbeat

If you see the hepcats swoonin', and are dazzled by the proud smile on the face of Mr. Braught, you'll know that it must be the brass sextet that's playing. Although they are one of East High's most recently formed groups, they are also one of the most popular, having played at various assemblies and at the Veterans' Hospital.

From trumpet to oom-pah, they are Johnny Baker, first trumpet; Ray Branscomb, second trumpet; Eleanor Uffelman, French horn; Don Priebe, baritone; Ray Russell, trombone; Charles Bean, bass.

Library Journal

The students of East High probably do not realize the importance of the job performed by the library assistants. These helpers, chosen from a long list of applicants, relinquish their study hall periods to do this work. These students check out books, see that books are returned on time, shelve books, and file book cards, in addition to checking over the shelves to see that books are in their proper places. The boys who work in the bookroom are also members of the staff, which is under the direction of Miss Carrie Larson, school librarian.

Business Week

Little do we realize the work done by the many girls who spend their study hall periods helping in the office, checking slips, answering telephone calls, delivering messages, filing, typing, and taking dictation. The students who are chosen for this clerical work must be taking a business course and must be able to take dictation and type. By working in the offices of Miss Helmreich, Mrs. Clark, Miss Hammer, Mr. Williams, and Mr. Prichard, they relieve the burdens of the regular office staff while gaining valuable experience in office duties.

Theater Arts

Spine-chilling suspense and brain-teasing mystery held a full capacity audience breathless to the last minute at the presentation of "The Death Ray Mystery," Friday, November 19, in the East High auditorium. The play, directed by Mrs. Juniata Caldwell Laser, centers around a plot to steal the priceless death-ray formula of one Gregory McVane and the murders that resulted from it.

The part of Gregory McVane was played by Fred Shannon, with James Shepard as his nephew, Hillary, and Jerry Pike as Splash, Hillary's assistant. Pattie Van Liew took the part of Adele McVane, Frances Van Liew the part of Adele's daughter, Cora Sutton, and La Verne Stewart the part of Cora's husband, Norman Sutton. The part of Mavis Huston, McVane's ward, was portrayed by Shirley Chinn; Beaudry, the butler by Bob Townsend, Olga, the maid was played by Peggy Sorenson, and Bill Carter played the part of Anderson, the detective.

Behind the scenes were many able supporters, without whom the show could not go on. They were Willa Bea Stevens, student assistant, and on the lights Dick Caplan and Don Jones. On properties, Bonnie Campbell, Dorothy Harris, Joyce Shalley; Make-up, Betty Dixon, Gretchen Swanson, Marjorie Rowat; Stage, Jerry Burrows, Bob Young, Keith Garr, Nick DePhillips, Jack Smith, Bob Nicholson; Stage Design, Nick DePhillips, Bob Nicholson, Bill Nagorner, Jack Smith.

Staff

This semester the East High Scroll as usual contained well written articles on school news, assemblies, gossip, pictures of the students, advertisements, news of East High service men and alumni, and many other interesting items.

Few students in East High realize and appreciate the great amount of work that it takes to put out an edition of Scroll. The fifth period is the class period devoted to work on the Scroll, but the staff members and advisors spend much of their spare time as well, planning and writing articles for the newspaper.

The Staff itself is composed of students taking Journalism I and II. Since only a very few students took Journalism II, the students taking their first semester of Journalism were included on the staff. In Journalism I the students learn news-writing, headline writing, and feature writing. Then in their second semester they take part in the actual work of making a newspaper.

The subscription campaign went "over the top" with a percentage of over 100%, and over 1500 subscriptions. This semester the Scroll is being sent to all of the East High boys in service. It also is being sent all over the United States in exchange for other school publications.

Under the guidance of the editor-in-chief, Jean Garrington, and the faculty advisor, Mr. Kenneth Stratton, and with the help of the various page editors, the Scroll will again be the usual fine publication this semester.

H₂O + Caffeine = Trouble

by Robert Schmeltzer

Oh, fatal beverage; where did you possess such powers to create thirst, yet such powers to quench it; such powers to arouse nerves, yet such powers to deaden them; and such enticement to disaster, yet such magnetic aromas!

No, this isn't a thesis on "Why you shouldn't drink coffee." It is, instead, merely a sad synopsis of the nocturnal nightmare, which befalls a poor caffeine consumer, while he all but sleeps.

Little realizing his fate, my ignorant and consequently innocent victim, arises in the morning and ponders over the supposedly naive task of preparing a cup of coffee. Quickly he pulls the coffee pot out of the cupboard, but as somebody said—"Haste makes waste," and sure enough, he is soon busy picking up the countless number of pots and pans which seem to have followed the coffee pot out of the cupboard. Muttering a few phrases of probable Anglo-Saxon origin, the meaning of which I shall not pause to discuss, he slings the entire mess of aluminum ware back into its chamber of imprisonment and prepares to continue with his task. "Oh, but where's the coffee pot?" he gasps.

After turning everything upside down but the inlaid linoleum, he finally considers the fact that he might have thrown the pot back into the cupboard with the other kitchen implements. As he opens the cupboard doors, the pots and pans again swiftly descend from their prison and there lies the coffee pot! This time he carefully turns on the gas stove, lights it, puts the coffee pot on the fire, and then puts the pots and pans back into the cupboard.

As the pot sits on the fire, he prepares his cup by placing the desired amount of sugar and cream in it before-hand. After that he butters some rolls and puts them in a plate beside the cup. By this time he begins to wonder why the coffee isn't boiling. Approaching the pot, he lifts it off the fire. Trouble, the name is coffee—to be sure, the pot must leak excessively! Yes, he had carefully put the pot on the fire, but he forgot to put the coffee and water in!

His wife's illness has rendered him quite helpless, but his deadly ego will not allow him to admit it. Exercising all the will-power which he has, he opens a two pound jar of the venom, and continues his—"flawless" adventure. Thinking that all of the coffee must be used at once, he pours the contents of the jar into that portion of the pot which should hold the water. He then naturally concludes that the small device, which normally holds the coffee grounds, is the water container! He attributes the small holes to his wife's lack of care, and he promptly seals them with some clean adhesive tape! He then takes the stand off the coffee container, fills the container with water, and forces it into the pot.

Having never quite descended into such a state of extreme lunacy, I cannot testify as to the physical results which undoubtedly emanate from the treacherous caldron. I can without fear of contradiction, however, assure you that they are quite the antonym of pleasant.

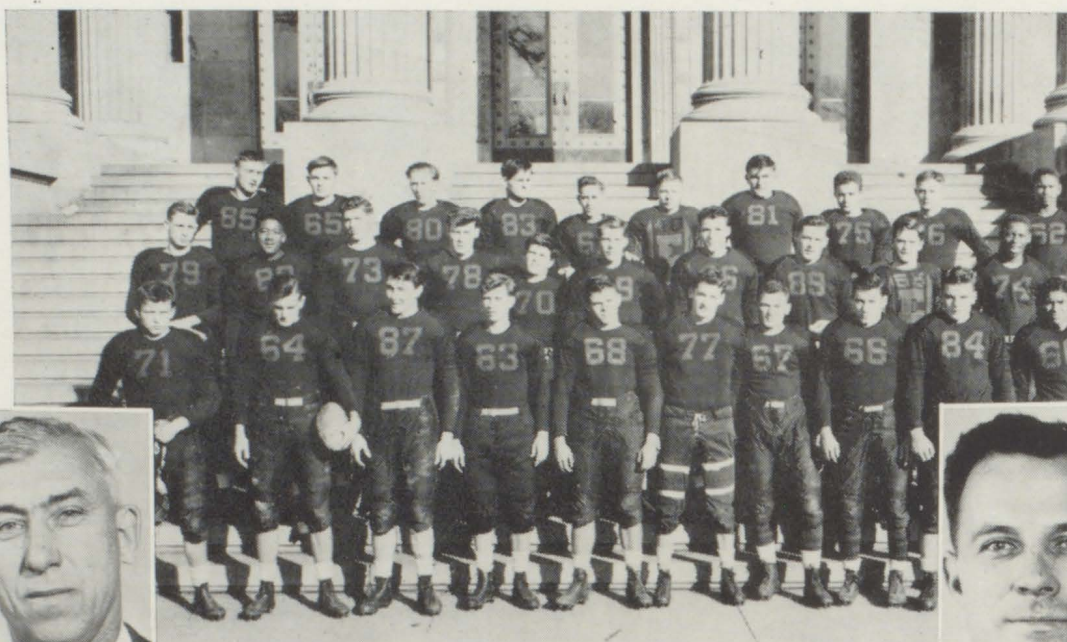

Finally, the possibility of an error in his procedure dawns upon him. Calmness prevailing, he empties the entire contents of the pot, removes the cremated remains of the adhesive strips, and once again prepares to invade the realm of a woman's chore.

He fills the pot with water and puts it on the fire. While the pot of water is cooking, he fills the other pot with coffee. Although his past hour hasn't shown it, he is a friend of neatness, and he fools around with the coffee container until he has poured the coffee in with perfect evenness. Consequently, about eleven minutes have elapsed, but with a look of triumph, he finally puts the coffee container into the pot. He is certain that he has seen his wife pour the coffee as soon as it starts boiling, so about one minute later, he shuts off the fire because of the fact that the water is boiling.

Hopefully, he grasps the pot and approaches the waiting cup. Even the fact that his buttered rolls now look as if rigor mortis has set in, doesn't stop him now. With an egotistical calmness that defies all possibilities of disappointment, he pours morphine's counterfeit into the cup. And what does he get? What would you expect to get after having cooked the coffee for a whole minute? Naturally, he gets a horrible facsimile to tea, accompanied by the exotic, yet still magnetic aroma of . . . mineral water! !

Testing the body, mind, and skill sports has been a main activity in the school program, for the result of participating in sports is mainly development of a spirit of cooperation which carries into all fields of life.

Around the coming of the dusk one was able to see weary players come trudging back to the Gym, full of sleepiness. This was seen most every night throughout the season. But it had its effects. For in the hard working hours of practice, the football team, inexperienced at the start, grew into a favorable East High Eleven.

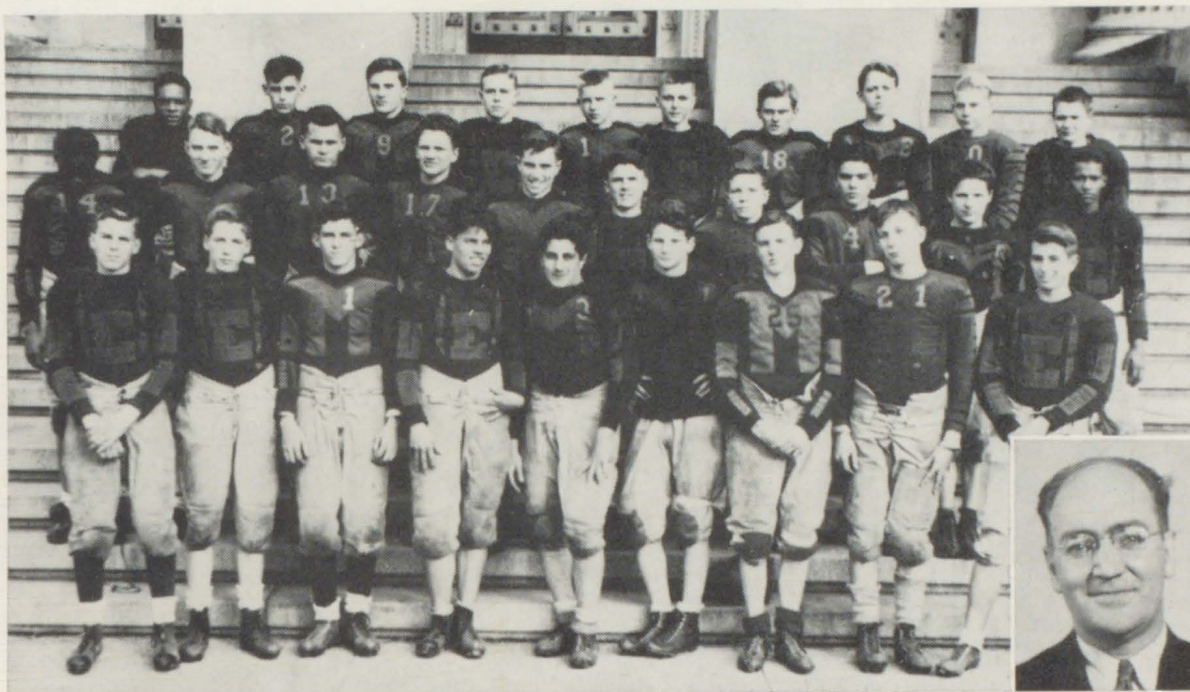

Off to a shaky start in the first half of the opening game, East came through with a burst of power to quell the opposing team. The game ended 19-19. While playing Fort Dodge, a team who claimed to be of college caliber, the Scarlet Eleven again showed its colors. For with Anderson's deadly tackling and the pass throwing-catching trio of Clemens, Rook and McClaren, East was victorious 12-7. And as other games came and went new players began to show their ability. Chigger William's long run in the Lincoln game; Mott's superlative kicking; Sorensen's defensive playing and Dawson's masterful calling of plays all stood out. These and many other standouts culminated to form a victorious team. Victorious in the sense that never could they be called quitters.

As noted, East won 4 games against 2 losses with 1 tie. This placed the Scarlet and Black 2nd in the Big Seven and also in the same place in the city series. The Lee Townshippers were 2nd only to Roosevelt (D. M.) in both of the series.

Our tribute has gone to Jim McClaren and Dick Clemens. These two starting players, always playing A-1 ball, were taken to serve their country. While this group left a gap in the lineup, the fighting spirit of the players compensated the loss from injuries and players leaving.

And as the 19th year of Mike's regime as football coach came to a close, he saw another well shaped team, something which he could be proud to send out to represent East High and what it stands for.

The fellows who take all the hard knocks but receive little glory are the boys of the second team, or the so called Canaries. These boys work hard all season playing a hard schedule of their own but still find time to scrimmage against the varsity squad, acquainting them with the plays and formations of the teams they will play.

The coach of the second team is the old standby of East High, "Chuck" Gregory.

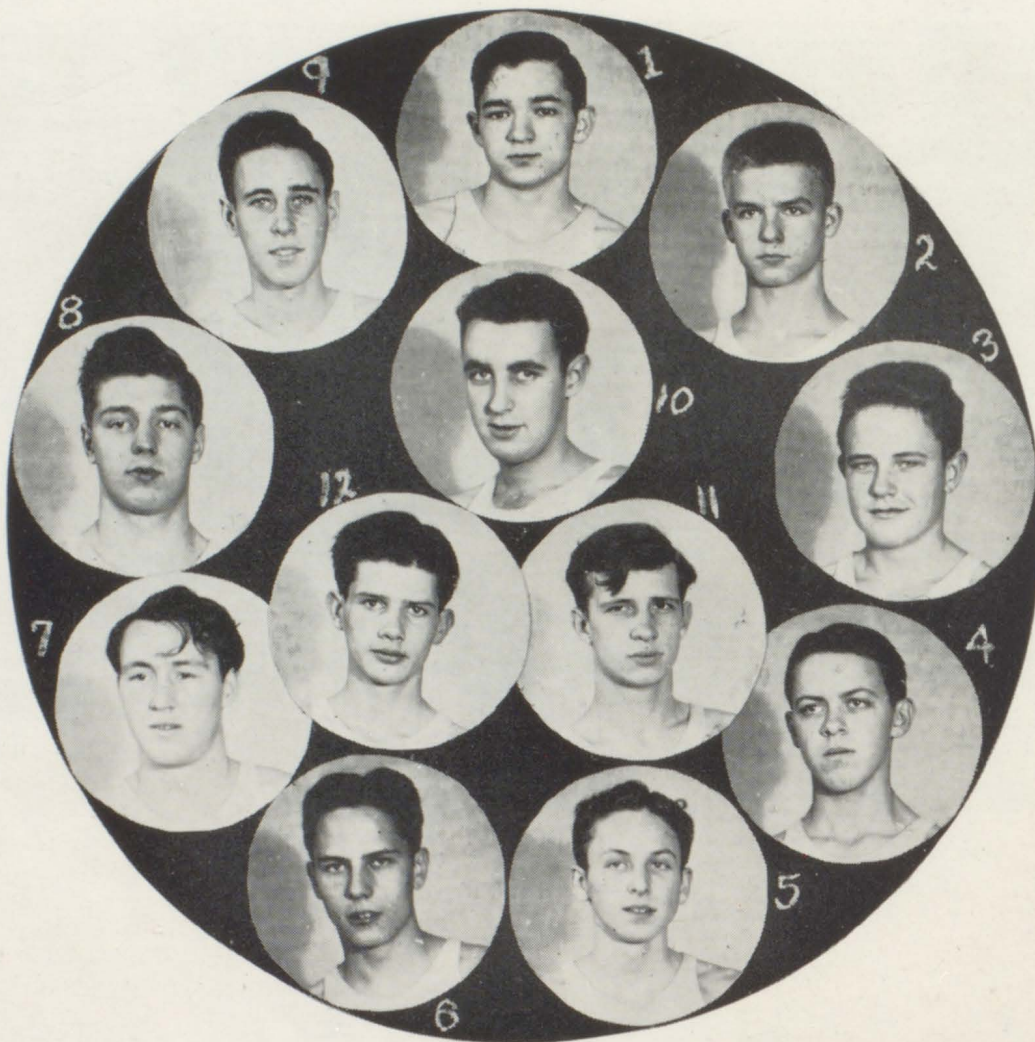

The main purpose for maintaining a second team is an important one. The boys who compose the second team are gaining valuable experience necessary for varsity competition.

Coach Gregory looks over the group of boys as they work out at the beginning of the season and assigns them positions according to the respective abilities each boy has. For instance, if a boy was fast and could catch a football, he might be placed at end. If he were comparatively heavy and showed abilities in blocking and tackling, he might be placed at a tackle position, or if a boy performed well as a runner, passer, and a kicker, he might be placed at a back position.

Quite a number of boys showed outstanding ability at their position this season. Among the linemen were Griffith and Ratton at ends, Salem and Reiderman at the tackles, Englund and Brown at guards, and Gregory at center. The backfield stars were Hadley at quarter, Hackney and Rider at the halves, and Newton at full back. This is a fine group of boys possessing talent who will surely help the varsity squad next season.

All in all, the Canaries had a very successful season. Their record for the season was 3 won, 3 lost, and 1 tie. A few members moved up to the first squad while others from last year's second team failed to make the squad. Better luck next season, boys.

1. Barrett, 2. M. Carlson, 3. G. Carlson, 4. Maigaard, 5. Metcalf, 6. Priebe, 7. Rook, 8. Sandin, 9. Simpson, 10. Snider, 11. Williams, 12. Taylor.

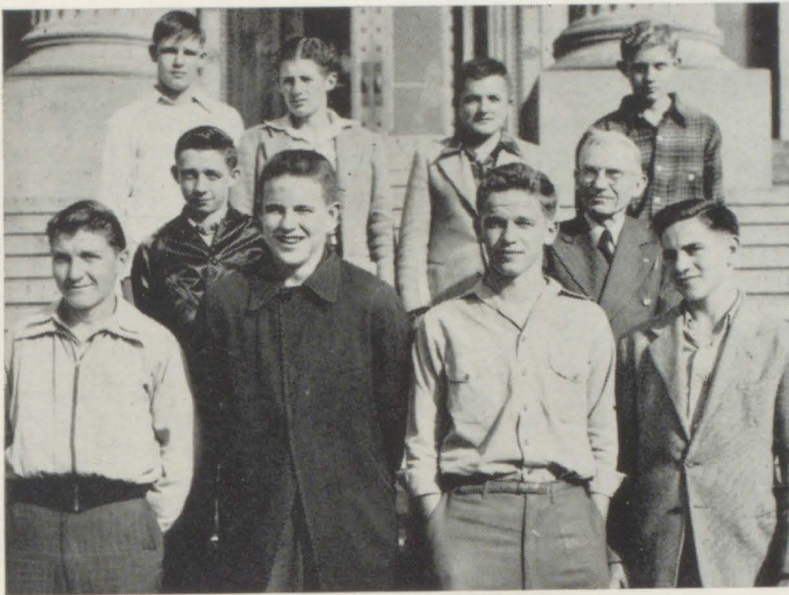

Basketball

Having a few veterans from last year's campaign, East nevertheless is in the midst of red hot competition. For the rosters of other teams show that they have height as well as experience packed in their teams. East, if we may look forward, certainly has a tough schedule to fight against.

Practising every night the team learns aggressiveness in ball hawking, something that is always seen on East High's teams. Neil Smith, who is in absentia, as a result of the Army Air Corps, is leaving a place to fill. As seen, Marty Carlson, a sophomore nugget is filling his shoes. Williams' loss will be felt also. While not sure, the rumors are that he is leaving East to move out of the state. Two other starting players from last year, who would be the same this year, had they not been taken into the war are McClaren and Clemens. Gloom from the loss of such key men usually is great. But this year there seems to be more good material than can be used. Rook, Barrett, Metcalfe and Carlson all seem to be standouts. Simpson and Carlson also appear to be headed for the star column. Maygard, the shifty ball handling junior is making a coveted place on the team as any boy would like to have.

Looking back on last year's team, first city series champion in history for East High, one is able to find faces there that are present now. The team with its veterans should be able to make a showing as well as that of last year. That is, if their shooting becomes more accurate. And from the looks of things it is improving with the basket taking many beatings in practices. The Scarlet and Black is on the march.

Golf

Under the direction of Mr. Hostetter, the golf team has made a fine showing this year. They walk the grassy green day by day in order to get that eye which helps make a golfer. Not only in the school year but also in their vacation the boys are always on the links, practicing to improve their game.

Physical Education

Mr. Whitlock

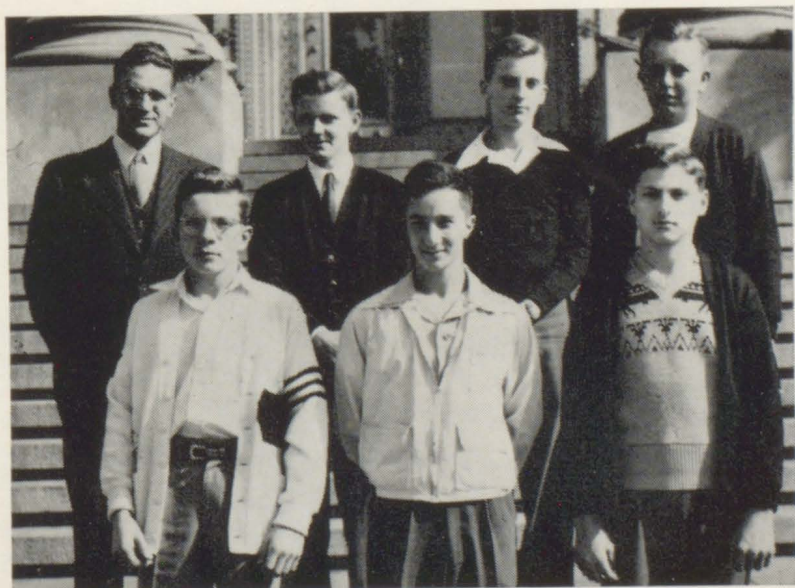

Under the masterful hand of Mr. Glenn Whitlock rigid calisthenics are given to the majority of the boys in school. Every boy that takes Gym is susceptible to at least six minutes and sometimes 10 minutes of calisthenics twice a week. Hun—two—Hun—two . . . So goes the piercing voice of Whitlock into every boy's ears. Seemingly, every muscle is about ready to pop out, breathing becomes difficult, but still that voice goes: Hun—two. But finally that rest period comes.

Besides working like this with the boys all day, he still faces two hours of work with the athletic squads after school. Mr. Whitlock is truly a busy man.

Tennis

Boasting a city champion in Dick Swanson, the tennis team is exceptionally seeded well this year. One may think the tennis team has no training. And yet the game of tennis is as vigorous as any game on the sports calendar of East High. Tennis takes a well conditioned body as well as keen eyesight. Mr. Gewerth is the praiseworthy coach.

Wrestling

Wrestling is one of the sports whose season does not get under way until after we are off the press, but we'll try to enlighten you on the coming season. Here are the boys who will participate in the coming season under the direction and guidance of Coach Chuck "Strangler" Gregory. The big, brawny history teacher from Room 4 can certainly teach the boys how to "pin" and "throw" the other fellow.

The boys come out after football season to get in shape for the winter wrestling season. They train steadfastly to cut their weight and diet, and they cut on sweets, dates, and such to insure a better body physically. Included in this training, also, is at least one or two miles of running each night.

One thing the boys who participate in wrestling learn is the art of self defense. They learn different holds, balance, quick thinking, and co-ordination of mind and body. Usually it takes the new boys who come out about half the season to learn the holds they will use and then they try for positions on the team.

With the return of lettermen like Shan Holsinger, Jim Pike, and the mighty mite Bill Burton, this should turn out to be a successful season.

Cross Country

Rigid training, which is the main theme of the team, is also the main reason for their success. Running mile after mile each night the boys develop the ability which they are so famous for. State champions for some time now the present cross country team is working hard for that honor again. Mike Augustine, the coach, has done and is doing a swell job of tutoring the state champions.

Row 1: Redhead, Van Gundy, Walters;
Row 2: Bates, Williams, Smith, Olson,
Stonier.

Mr. Russell

East High School is very fortunate in having Scotty Russell as a coach for the swimming team. Scotty is known nationally for his ability as a swimmer and an instructor in the art of swimming.

He has traveled widely while attending various institutes and conventions of internationally known swimming authorities.

Scotty teaches his boys the various strokes and dives and the art of co-ordination of mind and body that turn out championship teams.

The students of East High salute you, Scotty! May you turn out many more winning teams in the future.

Mr. "Scotty" Russell
Swimming Coach

Swimming

Swimming is one of the most enjoyable sports at East High. Nothing could be more invigorating to the participants than to be paddling around in the water on a hot summer day.

The prospects for the coming season appear good with the return of four lettermen. With the help of a fine group of reserves, our boys should make this a successful season.

G. A. A.

Backbone of girls' sports at East is the G.A.A. The G.A.A. monogram, for which all the girls strive, is won by a point system. Points are given for participation in such things as tumbling and the ping-pong tournament. In order to win, a girl must earn five hundred points. The director, Miss Spencer, is glad to see that in recent years more girls than ever are winning their monograms.

Girls' Tennis

Hard-working lasses with plenty of zoomph, the girls' tennis team is always out there knocking it around for East High. In this season's city tournament, they battled hard to bring East into second position. Gloria Codner, Jo Ann Cowan, Catherine Appell, and Helen Stanfield played singles, and the doubles were played by Betty Storey, Patty Van Liew, Phyllis Franklin, Maxine Lewis, and Dorothy Reuter.

Two boys who managed to be unruly in school so exasperated their teacher that she required them to remain after hours and write their names 1,000 times. They plunged into the task. Some 15 minutes later one of them grew uneasy and began watching his companion in disgrace. Suddenly the first broke out with despair between his sobs and said to the teacher:

"Tain't fair! His name is Lee and mine is O'Shaughnessy."

"What are you going to do when you grow up?"
he asked her.

"I'm going to marry an engineer," replied the child.

"And what kind?" he asked. "A civil engineer?"

"Oh," replied the little girl, "it doesn't matter what kind. I'll soon make him civil."

The letter "E" is said to be the most unfortunate letter in the alphabet, because it is always out of cash, forever in debt, never out of danger, and in hell all the time. All of which is true. Still, it is never in war, always in peace, and always in some thing to eat. It is the beginning of existence, the commencement of ease, and the end of trouble. Without it there would be no life, no heaven. It is the center of honesty and is always in love. It is the beginning of encouragement and endeavor, and the end of failure.

Director: "Have you ever had any stage experience?"

Young Actor: "Well, I had my leg in a cast once."

Two men had just made their exit from the theater, and evidently it had been a poor picture, judging from the expression on their faces. One of them said: "You know, it certainly is wonderful how pictures have advanced these last few years."

"How do you mean?"

"Well, first there were the silent pictures, then came the talkies, and now this one smells."

Impatient Customer: "Can't you wait on me? Two pounds of liver; I'm in a hurry."

Butcher: "Sorry, Madam, but two or three are ahead of you. You surely don't want your liver out of order."

Smith: "Don't you enjoy listening to the honk of a wild goose?"

Jones: "Not when he's driving an automobile."

Teacher: "What was Columbus' motto?"

Sophomore: "More miles to the galleon."

A collegian sent his brother this telegram: "Flunked out. Am coming home. Prepare Papa."

Two hours later he got this reply from his brother: "Papa prepared. Prepare yourself."

The question in the physiology examination read: "How may one obtain a good posture?"

The country boy wrote: "Keep the cows off it and let it grow up awhile."

Absent-minded Customer: "Haircut, please."

Barber: "Certainly, but would you mind taking your hat off first?"

Absent-minded Customer: (Noticing girl in next chair). "Oh, excuse me. I didn't know there was a lady present."

An American newspaper correspondent in Japan wrote to a friend. "I don't know if this letter will ever arrive, because the Japanese censor may open it."

A week later he received a note from the Japanese post office saying, "The statement in your letter is not correct. We do not open letters."

Perhaps the reason a woman office-seeker usually isn't successful is that when she throws her hat into the ring nobody can figure out what it is.

Someone has advanced the suggestion that in this day of sales tax the government should provide half-cents. But too much of that is already provided.
